After conducting training at the Pohakuloa Training Area on the Big Island and completing their Marine Corps Combat Readiness Evaluation, Marines from 3rd Bn., 3rd Marine Regiment spent Oct. 31, having fun at Risley Field aboard MCB Hawaii during Family Day.

More than 300 Marines, Sailors and their family members spent the day interacting with each other during sporting events and other social activities arranged for the unit.

"What we wanted to do was get the Marines together in a fun atmosphere to celebrate the completion of our MCCRE," said Lt. Col. David L. Close, 3/3 commanding officer.

With the entire day dedicated to having fun, sports competitions included softball, horseshoe and volleyball tournaments.

One of the most popular activities of the day was the dunk tank provided by Marine Corps Community Services.

Along with the sounds of families interacting and children laughing, a deejay played music and emceed the awards ceremony for the teams that won the sporting events held earlier in the day.

A face painting booth, a Halloween mask-making table, a musical chair game and a bouncy house were provided for the keiki.

Toward the end of the day, the smell of barbecue chicken, hamburgers, hot dogs and chips floated through the air as people fed their enormous appetites after a day filled with non-stop activity.

Not only was Family Day arranged for the merriment of the Marines, Sailors and families, it was a good chance for the spouses of the Marines and Sailors to interact and make contacts.

Since 3/3 is scheduled to deploy to Okinawa, Japan, in February for the Unit Deployment Program, the wives of the servicemembers will need to rely on each other for support while their Marines and Sailors are away.

"I was able to meet people I could get in contact with in the future to help me get adjusted here on base," said Evelyn Mercado, a spouse and mother of three who arrived at MCB Hawaii in August.

Events like Family Day are important to units because they help Marines,

Sailors and their families form an environment where they can assist each other getting through difficult times.

"I think it's positive to get together once in a while and to get to know other people within the company," said Mercado. "Being away from home, we have to come together as a family."

If more than 300 smiling faces of young and old alike were any indicator, the mission to have fun and build unit cohesion was a great success.

Families were able to enjoy a barbecue as they played games, listened to music and met other 3/3 families during the 3/3 Family Day.

Untouchables defeat Maint. Co.

Cpl. Roman Yurek
Lifestyles Editor

Football season is in full swing across the United States, and at MCB Hawaii, Kaneohe Bay, units put together the best gridiron players they had for the Intramural Flag Football season.

On Nov. 2, the Untouchables went head-to-head with Maintenance Co. in a grueling defensive struggle for superiority on the field which ended in a 7-6 victory for the Untouchables.

Both teams had a rough start when each quarterback threw an interception during their first possession.

Cpl. Roman Yurek

Robert Ortiz, running back for Maintenance Co., tacked up many rushing yards for the team.

Maintenance Co. was able to capitalize on the turnover by scoring the first touchdown, which was scored by quarterback Kevin Herrback.

The Untouchables were not shut down yet. Their running game allowed them to creep closer and closer to the end zone. Once there, quarterback Reggie Wallace penetrated the Maintenance defense and scored the team's first points.

Though it was early in the game, the extra point scored by the Untouchables would prove decisive, as the first half ended, 7-6 Untouchables.

After the first half, the Maintenance team began to pick up the pace and run the ball more. This tactic had worked well for the Untouchables offense in the first half.

Now the defense on both teams seemed invincible.

DMA brings grace to K-bay residents

Story and Photos

Music from Tchaikovsky and children's laughter fill the mirrored rooms as the smiling students danced across the floor waiting for the next command from the instructor.

Di Rodin, a 1983 graduate of Julliard School of Dancing in New York City, started dancing when she was four years old and has continued her love for dancing for over 30 years.

Wanting to work with kids, Rodin opened a school for ballet, tap, jazz and gymnastics aboard MCB Hawaii, Kaneohe Bay. The Dance Movement Academy opened its doors in 1997 and has over 120 members.

"My heart jumps when my kids want to start class just as I open the doors to my studio," said Rodin. "They have a hunger to learn, and to share with me what they have learned themselves. It's so wonderful."

The DMA helps youngsters and adults develop their talents in dance and gymnastics. Ages range from 18 months to 53 years.

Recitals are a big hit in the DMA. The three major ones are Christmas, an annual recital in May, and BayFest. The school also has a few during the year.

"I treat every class as if it were a recital," said Rodin. I teach them to be proud of who they are and what they can accomplish."

Equipment at both studios ranges. There are horizontal bars, trampolines, a balance beam, an Olympic-size matted floor, barrels, a miniature springboard, un-even bars and a vault.

"The biggest hit at the gymnastic class is the trampoline," said Rodin. "The kids can never get enough of it."

Bouncing kids wait patiently for their turn at the trampoline.

Children seem to be flipping, twirling and bending their bodies into pretzels. One little girl stares at the mirror with amazement as her feet move with the musical rhythm.

In addition to Rodin, the school has two other helpers — April Braun, who adds spice to the jazz classes, and Julianca McCoyd, who has more than two years experience dancing and teaching with DMA.

"It's a joy to teach my kids," said Rodin. "I love to see their confidence build, which is a stepping stone later in life."

For class information and registration,

Base Aloha Fair opens eyes to community

Sgt. Richard W. Holtgraver Jr.
Combat Correspondent

People who wanted to learn more about services MCB Hawaii and the Windward community have to offer went to the Fall Community Aloha Fair Oct. 30 at the Enlisted Club ballroom.

Last week's fair brought more than 300 people to the Enlisted Club to find information on a number of services ranging from the Key Volunteer Program, to the Lifestyles Insights Networking Knowledge and Skills program, to the Chaplains Religious Enrichment Development Operation.

More than 50 vendors set up display tables so Marines, Sailors and their families could learn what they had to offer, according to Bobbie Brock, consumer affairs coordinator for Marine Corps Community Services.

"Ultimately, the fair is for new people here at MCB Hawaii, but it is also for seasoned residents as well," said Brock. "It gives them the opportunity to come and check out what we have to offer on base, and in the local community."

Residents of MCB Hawaii weren't the only ones who benefited from the Aloha Fair.

Local businesses, banks, phone companies, colleges and other services set up tables and informed people of what products and services they have to offer.

"The fair lets the Marine Corps community know that we're out there, and that we have products and services for them," said Isaac Hudson, a pension consultant for New England Financial's Honolulu branch office.

"It's a pretty good place to find out exactly what's going on aboard the base," said Staff Sgt. John F. Courtenay, frequency manager for Headquarters Bn., MCB Hawaii, Kaneohe Bay. "The fair is also a good chance for people to get to know each other."

Colleges such as Chaminade University and the University of Phoenix were on hand to offer information on their curriculums.

The Aloha Fair is a bian-nual event. Last week's fair was the second.

The next Aloha Fair is scheduled for Tuesday, March 19, 2002.

For more information about the next fair, contact Bobbie Brock at 254-7653.

FOOTBALL, From B-3

Just a few minutes into the half, Wallace threw another interception. The Maintenance offense rushed onto the field to attempt some fast plays to gain some yards.

“Come on, they’re hurrying, they’re hurrying,” yelled Untouchable’s safety Rashad Stokes.

With only minutes left to play, the Untouchables got the ball back, and attempted a touchdown.

Eric Aisoff picked off the pass for his second interception of the game. This last interception was still not enough to defeat the Untouchable defense.

“Our defense held their own and stuck it out all game,” said Eric Thompson, running back for the Untouchables. “We were missing a few players, but our defense played well.”
